Subject: Submission of manuscript for evaluation

Dear Editor,

I am enclosing herewith a manuscript entitled “Endometrial Tuberculosis simulating an ovarian cancer: a case report” for consideration for publication in “Acta Médica Portuguesa”, as a Case Report.

This report highlights the clinical and radiological features of female genital tuberculosis. Female genital tuberculosis is of special interest, because it is an important cause of infertility in developing country. We review and discuss an unusual presentation of the disease, mimicking an ovarian cancer. Discerning between these two conditions is essential for decision-making therapy and to promptly set antituberculosis medical therapy, especially patients in childbearing age, in order to preserve fertility.

We believe that the findings described in this case report will be of special interest to the readers of “Acta Médica Portuguesa”.
